

The garden

The garden was a wonderful place full of life. The fresh, green grass felt soft under my feet and the tall, strong trees towered overhead. All around the edges were beautiful flowers in full bloom. There were delicate violets, scented roses and pretty daisies in every corner creating an array of colour. The sun shone brightly overhead and there were some fluffy, white clouds in the sky. I could feel the warmth of the sun on my cheeks and could hear the sweet sound of birdsong from the branches overhead. Bees buzzed in and around the multi-coloured flowers carrying the precious pollen back to their hive. In the corner, there was an ornate, stone water fountain with crystal clear water bubbling over the edges. What a wonderful place it was!
