Rome has a Mediterranean climate with cool winters and hot summers.

Sun seekers should travel in the summer months when the weather is hottest but if you don't mind cold evenings, Rome is absolutely beautiful in the winter.

With weather to suit everyone, the city of Rome can be discovered all year round, offering a new experience each time you visit this wonderful city.

PLACES TO VISIT

Colosseum

No trip to Rome would be the same without visiting the Colosseum. Built nearly two thousand years ago this elliptical amphitheatre played host to thousands of hand-to-hand combats between gladiators, of contests between men and animals, and of many larger combats. Standing inside this impressive structure, it is easy to imagine the wonder and terror that was experienced all those years ago. We recommend visiting before lunchtime to avoid the majority of the crowds. Don't forget your camera!

The Trevi fountain

Famous for its intricate artwork decorated in the Baroque style, the Trevi Fountain is one of the most famous fountains in the world. The central feature is a chariot in the shape of a shell, drawn by seahorses with Triton as the guide. This extravagant water feature showcases the skills of Roman craftsmanship. No wonder travellers flock to this iconic 18th-century Baroque masterpiece like bees to honey!
